Chorus Line Returns to Fair

The 1967 Clearfield County extra touch to the grandstand Fair is bringing back one of show. A few years ago the chorus line was dropped from the fair's grandstand program. But this year, by popular demand, it will be back for the enjoyment of fair visitors.

"Persons attending the grandstand show have said the show lacked something after the chorus line was dropped. So we're bringing the girls back this year and they'll have an important part in the lavish musical revue playing in front of the grandstand Wednesday through Saturday nights," a Fair Board member said.

This year the chorus line will be Hal Sands' Manhattan Rockets, one of the country's most exciting dance companies.

Each of the 16 chorus girls is a talented dance specialist on her own. Together they make up one of the most consistently crowd-pleasing ensembles in the world of entertainment.

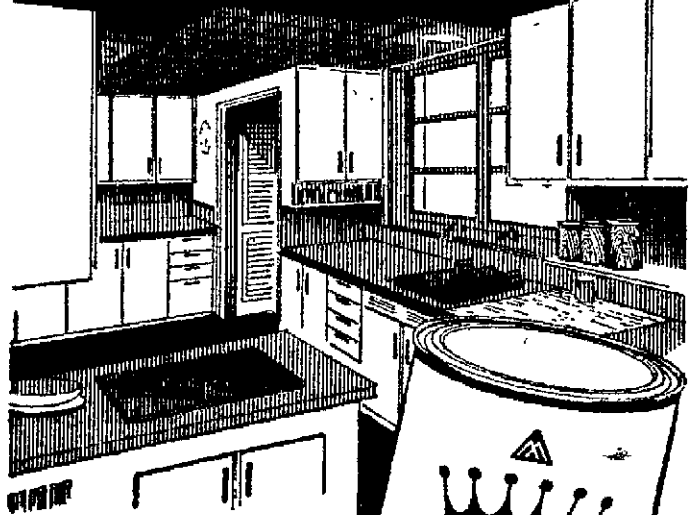

As a precision group the girls are nothing less than superb. They perform a waltz, Latin rhythm, a modern jazz number or an artful cakewalk with equal ease.

Their production numbers throughout the revue will make this year's grandstand show one of the most spectacular in Electric Prunes in two shows Clearfield Fair history. Saturday night.

The revue will star Little Reserved and box seat tickets Jimmy Dickens Thursday night, for the grandstand revue are Al Hirt Friday night and the now on sale.
